AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions, Trade Marks, or Designs.

No. 76 State-st., opp. Kilby-st., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents, or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." A New Summer Resort.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Times.]

SEA GIRT, Friday, July 18, 1879.

The [illegible] is now springing up on the Atlantic Coast, another claimant for popular favor. This new candidate will be called Sea Girt, from its beautiful position [illegible] promises to rival, if not eclipse, many of the [illegible] established resorts of the season. Sea Girt is situated on the upper New Jersey coast, about twelve miles south of Long Branch. It embraces [illegible] acres, [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] one [illegible] feet on the Atlantic [illegible] for more than [illegible] miles. It is bounded on the south by the Manasquan River, decidedly the most beautiful stream in the State [illegible] the [illegible] part of the country. [illegible] the high [illegible] New York and Philadelphia, within [illegible] for bathing purposes [illegible] popularity [illegible]

[illegible] United States Navy [illegible] which when completed will [illegible] about fifty [illegible] on the sea [illegible] The [illegible] broad and [illegible] purpose to which it has been [illegible] The lots are laid out [illegible] 50 by 150 feet, allowing ample room for buildings [illegible]

An iron [illegible] now employed [illegible] principal boulevard, and arrangements are in progress for the building of a first-class hotel.

It is intended and designed to make this the most attractive watering place in this section of the country. Nature has done all that is possible to make it attractive, and it is only necessary to be known by our summer tourists to be appreciated [illegible] At "Ocean Grove," about six miles north of Sea Girt, about fifty houses are now in course of construction. M. M.

It [illegible] is not [illegible] that of [illegible] descended in the male line of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spenser, Milton, [illegible] Butler, Dryden, Pope, Cowper, Goldsmith, Scott, Byron, Moore, Sir Philip Sidney, Sir Walter Raleigh, Drake, Cromwell, Hampden, Monk, Marlborough, Peterborough, Nelson, Strafford, Ormond, Clarendon, Addison, Swift, Johnson, Walpole, Bolingbroke, Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Burke, Grattan, Canning, Bacon, Locke, Newton, Davy, Hume, Gibbon, Macaulay, Hogarth, Sir Joshua Reynolds, David Garrick, [illegible] or Edmund Kean.

The Future of Farmers.

The lives of farmers are said to be harder than those of any class of producers. Agriculturists are said to make less profit and lead a duller life than any other set of men. Not to dwell on the [illegible] of [illegible] the [illegible] commercial facts indicate that their position is likely to improve. As their products are mainly useful and absolutely necessary to life and are always in demand, farmers are usually sure of a market, and, while they rarely realize the large profits sometimes obtained in other occupations, they are commonly exempt from the great risks and losses often encountered in those occupations. Especially is this likely to be the case under the more rapid development of meteorological science and signaling, which will soon enable the farmer to save part or the whole of crops that have heretofore been wholly or partly injured.

And when the [illegible] and path of storms, the amount of moisture in the [illegible] dry air, come to be calculated and predicted as eclipses long have been, farming operations can be conducted with a precision and foresight that will give the business a successful [illegible] Inventive genius, too, is continually at work to cheapen the commodities for which farmers exchange their products. In the nature of things, invention cannot do so much for agriculture as for manufacturing, mining, or commerce; hence, farm produce is likely to grow relatively more valuable. There seem to be limits to the productive power of the soil; at all events, production therefrom does not increase as readily or rapidly as production in other branches of industry, and a larger return for the grain [illegible] which the agriculturist raises [illegible] in future to reward his efforts. The difficulty of which cultivators of the Mississippi Valley complain is but temporary. It grows from two causes, which must in time cease to operate.

One is the distance from markets: this will be obviated by the development of other industries in the heart of the grain region, and the creation thus of home markets. The other is the low price of provisions compared with other articles. But this is simply a reaction from the opposite state of things, and both conditions result from Government tamperings with the currency. Ten years ago, when the era of inflation began, the prices of provisions rose disproportionately and speedily as compared with other prices. This effect was heightened by the withdrawal of hundreds of thousands of men from tillage and by the need for feeding these men [illegible] in the army. The return [illegible] of the disbanded armies to [illegible] industry, and largely to cultivation [illegible] lowered the price of the [illegible]—New York Bulletin.

After [illegible] the historic yacht America [illegible] up at Bay View as the pleasure boat of General Butler and his more intimate friends. She was originally the crack yacht of the New York yacht squadron, and under the charge of its first commodore, Mr. John C. Stevens won for America, at the Cowes regatta in 1851, an honorable place in yachting annals. At this regatta the America took the first prize in a match open to all nations, fairly distancing all competition. This success was attributed in part to her excellent model and to her well fitting sails, and [illegible] a change in several respects in English yacht building and fittings. During the late war the America became a rebel blockade runner, but on one of her trips was so closely pressed that she was [illegible] and scuttled. She was raised and repaired by the government, and since the war has been employed for experimental [illegible] in connection with the United States naval school at Annapolis. She was recently offered for sale and purchased by General Butler and arrived at Gloucester last week, where she is being fitted up for summer service. She will be commanded by Captain Jabez Marchant, Jr., and [illegible] by a crew of ten men.

Rev. Benjamin Labaree, son of the late President Labaree of Middlebury College, and for several years a missionary in Persia, [illegible] at a recent alumni dinner at Middlebury, that the Shah far exceeded in wisdom and ability any account of him which had yet been published in this country, and that none of the European editors [illegible] had done full justice to His Majesty.

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1873.

Our friends will confer a favor, by sending us facts of any matter of local interest which may come to their knowledge.

Correspondence concerning matters of public interest will be inserted, but we do not hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed in such communications. All manuscript must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer.

The summer routes of the News are now carried. The paper is delivered north as far as Bliss road, east as far as Gibbs avenue and south as far as Webster street. The publishers will be pleased to serve all within the above limits.

It is evident that a new element has been introduced into courtship, which new element is a pistol or knife for one. A young man annoys a young woman by his distasteful attentions for some weeks or months, and then because she declines to marry him he shoots her or stabs her, and says he did so because he loved her so much, or because her refusal made him crazy; which latter is perhaps true enough, as insanity and anger are identical. Young Hop Cummings of Mobile recently made his second attempt to shoot Miss Meyers. He had been forbidden to call on her by her father, and doubtless, wished to remove the temptation to disobey, out of respect to the old gentleman. These peculiar manifestation of love and tenderness have become so common that we are not anxious to be an attractive young lady.

Strikes as a general thing we disapprove of, but we have lately heard of a peculiar strike in Switzerland that we fully endorse, and we hope that neither party will ever yield. Two nights of frost caused some alarm as to the wine crop, and the proprietors of wine shops and cafés held a secret meeting, and determined to raise the prices. The public, on its side, after a consideration, decided upon abstaining from wine. The result is that all that class of establishments are entirely deserted, with the exception of an occasional thirsty passenger entering to ask for a glass of beer.

Jack Frost seems to be a pretty efficient temperance society, but it is to be feared that thirst on one side or love of lucre on the other will break down this present admirable state of affairs.

A Letter from Senator Powel.

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

Gentlemen:—I thank you for the notice of my letter to the Mayor, for I am sure it will second my only purpose, which is to urge upon my neighbors a patient and thorough investigation of the whole subject, bearing upon an abundant supply of pure and wholesome water.

The subject is of vital importance, for it actually bears issue of life and death and of prosperity and comfort too.

My effort has perhaps not been barren, if it has contributed in the least degree to your own sober second thought and conclusions regarding the fitness of Easton's pond to serve as a reservoir.

As I honestly and distinctly stated, I have yet no opinion on the subject, for I have no precise and reliable information as to any of the facts, except the one I stated,—namely —that Bailey's brook then appeared to have no current, and was nearly dry.

As you have alluded to my humble roof, permit me to say a few words in its defense. For almost twenty years it has given, besides perfect shelter, a great abundance of pure and wholesome water to a very large family, which all that while has enjoyed most remarkable health. No horses and cows or sheep are pastured upon the slates, no mud or surface impurities ever go through those "dry gutters" into my cistern, no poison paint nor lead pipe, touches my drinking water. With my own hand I regulate the inlet and throw off all salt rains, all impure or dusty water, and all drippings from old snow &c. The water passes through a large filter into the cistern. I shall be very glad if you will give me an opportunity to show you that I have all the year round an abundance of excellent sparkling water, at about the temperative of 52°. Except once to clean the apparatus, my supply has never been pumped out in twenty years.

In conclusion, let me assure you I have no hobby to ride, that I have no purpose, except to induce a thorough investigation of the question before us, so that when we do act, we shall have nothing to regret. Yours most respectfully,

SAMUEL POWEL,
Bowery street, July 23, 1873.

P. S. I take this opportunity to state what I have been told by good chemists, and I believe it is not generally known, that rain water is always poisoned by being drawn through lead pipes. The waters of some streams and springs also possess this dangerous property of dissolving lead.

The waters of our wells in Newport may safely be drawn through lead, for they have not the power to dissolve it, so far as I know. S. P.

STATE MISCELLANY.

Bishop Clark of Rhode Island made his thirty-seventh annual visit to Nahant on Sunday, where he preached to full congregations all day

The Star believes in the cell theory and wants more of them in the station house.

There are four hundred and twenty-four school districts in Rhode Island, and when the last census was taken there were 65,130 children under fifteen years of age in the state.

The deposits in the saving institutions of this state increased from $9,560,111 59 in 1862 to $26,989,733 11 in 1871. The number of depositors in the former year was 37,774, and in the latter year, 79,678.

A large and enthusiastic temperance meeting was held in the Baptist vestry on Monday evening. It was convened under the auspices of the Temperance Union, and its officers were the officers of the meeting. Its object was to devise ways and means by which the sale of intoxicating liquors in the place can be suppressed. Such has been the manifest increase of intemperance in the place for the past few weeks, that our citizens have become aroused. Several spirited addresses were made, and a series of resolutions were adopted. These resolutions favored the enforcement of the law, commended the town council for refusing to grant licenses and appointed prosecuting officers, and recommended that a committee be appointed to co-operate with the prosecuting officer in this part of the town in enforcing the law against liquor dealers. A committee of seven leading temperance citizens were appointed, and a fund of several hundred dollars was raised with which to carry on the work of prosecution, if needed. This not only looks like business, but it means business.

Near half-past one o'clock, Tuesday morning, the watchman at the Enterprise Company's mill, discovered fire on the railroad bridge known as the "Old Maids" bridge, and he, with the watchman of the Foundry Machine Company, went and attempted to put it out, but fearing it might get the better of them, the Enterprise watchman went back and started his whistle. The police, from their several positions, listened for the cry of fire. Two of them, Smith and Allen, being in a position to know the location of of the alarm, started in earnest, and reaching the bridge all together succeeded in putting out the flames, which in five minutes more would probably have destroyed this double track bridge over the Blackstone river. The origin of the fire is an unsettled question. No train had passed over that side of the bridge for several hours, and it does not look as though it could have been set on fire by a down train. One of the watchmen states that he saw several persons go from under the bridge not long before he saw the fire, which appears to have originated on top of the lower cords of the bridge, and burned the three timbers nearly half away, and also burned the braces considerably. The bridge is considered perfectly safe as it is, but will doubtless be repaired to make it doubly sure.

NEWS ITEMS.

The latest intelligence from Spain shows that the naval revolt arose from the outbreak in Cartagena, where the vessels were lying. Seven men-of-war, four of them being among the best in the navy, are in the hands of the insurgents, who hold complete possession of Cartagena, its forts and harbor. It is reported that a regiment sent against the rebels deserted to them, and at Victoria seven thousand government troops are in a state of complete demoralization. The motion to censure the government for declaring the navy insurgents to be pirates was rejected in the Cortes; in consequence of which action the minority will withdraw.

The Concord Patriot says that a novel feature is to be introduced into the New Hampshire State Fair this year. A premium, consisting of a silver service of the value of one hundred dollars, is offered for the finest baby under one year. The judges will be Gov. Straw, ex-Govs. Weston, Stearns, Harriman, Smyth and Godwin, and Hon. Daniel Clark, Judge of the U.S. District Court of New Hampshire, and Hon. E. Sargent, one of the Judges of the Supreme court. Several entries have already been made.

It is noted that the Germans of Tennessee have without exception, escaped the clutches of the cholera. They ascribe the fact to the use of lager instead of whiskey and brandy, and not a few say say they owe safety to onions.

A severe battle between General Muckenzie's command at Fort Concho on the Texas frontier and a force of Mexicans and Indians is reported to have been fought on the 3d or 4th of this month, but the report is utterly discredited at the war department.

The passengers on board the steamer Ulysses, when Miss Sennott fell overboard on Monday afternoon, raised a purse of one hundred and ten dollars, which was presented to the mate of the boat for his efforts to save the lady from drowning by jumping overboard. The mate of the steamer William Crane was also presented with a purse of $50 for assisting in getting both parties from the water.

Jute is principally manufactured at Dundee, Scotland, where there are fifty-nine mills, ranging from four to eight stories high. The largest mill employs 5000 hands, and works up into fabrics 990,000 pounds of raw jute per week. The weekly wages paid are from $5 to $10 for men, and $2 50 to $7 for women. The principal consumers of burlaps, or jute cloth, in the United States, are Californians, who use them for grain bags. Ten per cent of the value of the California wheat crop is expended in the purchase of coarse jute, cotton and linen bags. The duty is thirty per cent on jute cloth, and forty per cent on jute bags.

The morals of the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard are at a discount. One of the workmen recently dropped his dinner-basket, when out rolled a quantity of Government copper. An order was then given to weigh the copper at the yard, when it was found that more than six tons were missing.

The railroad investigation committee stated they traced $12,000 of the Vermont Central fund into the disbursing hands of Governor Smith. The governor was undecided as to what he did with a portion of that particular $12,000

A rumor comes from Paris (Naval and Military Gazette) that a motive power which will entirely supersede steam for locomotion, both by sea and land, has just been discovered

A democratic newspaper in London is very savage about the honors paid to the Shah, and declares that only a monkey in the zoological gardens has exhibited a vestige of manliness and independence. When the Shah attempted to poke this animal with a stick, the indignant creature seized it, and grinned defiantly at the majesty of Persia. "And this," philosophizes our newspaper, "shows how superior monkeys are to mayors. Had the Shah kicked one of the latter, all the mayors in the kingdom would have envied him the distinction, and regretted that their persons had not been honored by a similar infliction."

Alexander Wust, whose picture entitled "Daybreak in an American Forest" was selected by the Shah of Persia on the occasion of his recent visit to the International Exhibition, is an American artist, although, we believe, a Hollander by birth, and studied his profession in this country. He is an associate of the National Academy of Design, and went abroad about three years ago, where he has since been practising his profession.

The name of General and Judge Devens has been suggested as republican candidate for governor of Massachusetts in opposition to Butler, and, if Governor Washburne is not renominated, it would be difficult to find a better or a more available candidate than he, says the Hartford Courant, and it adds: With a spotless and honorable record, high, legal and scholarly attainments, and unquestioned ability, a brave and modest soldier, an eloquent orator and a thorough gentleman, it would be strange indeed if the republicans of Massachusetts should not prefer him to the rampant and corrupt demagogue of Lowell.

A Russian paper, the Woronish Telegraph, speaks of the activity of the French agents in purchasing army remounts in the Russian markets, and the consequent rapid rise in the price of horses in Russia. It is stated that the French Government has given authority for the purchase of fifteen thousand remount horses in Russia.

The Khedive of Egypt has engaged, in the event of war, to place half the army he may have at the time unconditionally at the disposal of the sultan, and fixes the smallest forces he could contribute at 15,000 men. If the Ottoman Empire were threatened with an invasion, the whole of the Egyptian army would take arms in its defence.

The second lot of Chinese youth to be educated in this country are expected at Springfield soon, and will report to Mr. Laisun, superintendent of the education of the Chinese, in this country. This second party numbers thirty Chinamen (twenty-eight youths and two guardians. They left China on the 13th of June and reached San Francisco on the 13th of July. Immediately on their arrival Mr. Laisun proposes to distribute them in families up and down the Connecticut Valley, as he has done those already under his charge. These new comers, added to those already here, makes sixty young Chinamen now educating in this country.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The band will play this evening at the Atlantic House.

—A large number of "cottage" trunks arrived this morning from New York.

—The excursionists from Fall River dined here today.

—The band concert last evening was largely attended.

—The Newport Brass Band orchestra will furnish the music at the High School festival this evening.

—The steamer Jane Moseley having completed her repairs at New York, arrived here last evening and resumed her trips today.

It is estimated that from twenty to thirty blocks of carriages occur on Thames Street daily.

—The Cake Walk at the Academy of Music this evening is for the benefit of the African M. E. Church.

Two more of those mammoth sword fish are at Albro's. They were caught between here and Point Judith.

The loser of the pocket book advertised in another column, wishes it understood that he will treat the finder liberally.

—R. E. Piquet, an artist from the New York Graphic, has been in town for a few days, sketching some of our principal points of interest for that paper.

Contrary to expectation the Newport Artillery have not been invited to participate in the grand military demonstration on the 30th of this month.

—P. Lorillard's steam yacht "Surline" is at anchor in the harbor. There are also the yachts Alarm, Dreadnaught, Viking, Fleetwind, Alice and Vesta.

—The axle of one of the wheels of James T. Hazard's meat wagon broke short off on Thames street this morning. These daily breakdowns must increase the carriage builder's profits.

Complaint is made, and justly too, of the filthy condition of a locality near the gas works, through which our summer guests have to drive to reach the Fort. It is certainly a disgrace to the city that such blemishes are allowed.

—At a meeting of the Hook & Ladder Company of this city last evening it was voted to accept the invitation of Hook & Ladder Company No. 1, of Fall River to join with them upon their annual excursion sometime during the coming month.

—It is suggested that the Board of Health request the Fire Department to pump salt water to the hill and let it run back to the harbor through the sewers. We heartily approve of this plan, as it would clean the sewers admirably and be as beneficial in this respect as a heavy rain, and the steamers could hardly be put to better use in the absence of a large conflagration. We presume the idea has not occurred to the Board.

—Instead of the public reading tomorrow night which we hoped Mr. Alfred Burbank would give us, he has decided to give a private reading in the parlors of the Ocean House tomorrow afternoon. It was at first expected that Miss Finkenstaedt would favor the audience with some of her fine music, but we regret exceedingly to say that she is so unwell that those who had anticipated so much pleasure in listening to her will have to be disappointed.

—The Society of Friends are about to hold a general meeting for social religious worship at their Meeting House on Marlborough street, to commence tomorrow, the 25th, at 10 1-2 o'clock a. m., and will be continued there three or four days, their meetings to be free to all. We understand that several ministers from other parts will be in attendance. Several of these meetings have been held in other portions of the Friend's Society in this country and have been a source of much instruction and comfort to those attending.

—The fair, yesterday and last night, was a very fine thing. The tables were loaded with attractive articles that speedily found purchasers; the music was excellent, and the hall was crowded all the time. The Baby table was under the charge of Misses Chase, Boss and Bosworth. Mrs. Barker and Miss Lizzie Boss and class managed two fancy tables. Miss Hayward presided over the cabinet table. Another fancy table was in charge of Mrs. Boss, Mrs. Castoff and Miss Weaver. Misses Langley, Weaver and Taylor disposed of Japanese goods. Mrs Holt had charge of the cake table, and Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Hudson managed the refreshment room.

FAIR DIPLOMATS.

White and Blue Graduates and White and Blue Diplomas.

A GRAND OCCASION

Eloquence, Rhetoric and Grace. Medals, Sheepskins and Ribbons.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1873 at Coddington Hall occurred this morning, and passed off very successfully. Members of the city government and school board, Gen. Van Zandt, Admiral and Mrs. Porter, and several of the Washington diplomatists who are summering with us were present.

Before ten o'clock the hall was so full that chairs had to be placed in the aisles and vacant spaces. The stage was decorated with half a dozen large and elegant baskets of flowers. On the wall back of the stage were the figures "73" and three monograms. The first might have stood for Knight Companion of Bath, only it didn't. It stood for Charles Bon King. On the other side was the monogram of George H. Norman, and in the centre that of Frederic W. Tilton Around the walls were four mottoes in four languages, all appropriate and unintelligible. The first was "Gnothi Seouton." "Gnothi" probably is Greek for bay, for the speakers could see out on the bay beautifully through the west windows. The second was "Procul Es Sordida Cura," which was undoubtedly the case. Then came "Freude Ist Der Mœhe Preis," which would have been more appropriate had the day not been Thursday. And last was "Salut a Terpsichore," which is undoubtedly the kind of chore most of the graduating class would prefer to do.

It is impossible for our reporter to satisfactorily describe the beautiful appearance made by the candidates for diplomas; the fair candidates of course. But they were as lovely as a liberal nature and delicate white dresses and tasteful ribbons could make them.

There was not a person present who did not envy the parents of those charming Misses. Of the single young man in the class, so single,—we refrain to speak. He must have felt so lonesome, and the task of representing unaided and alone the male sex must have been so burdensome to him that we spare him. At the present time when it is conceded that a girl is several times as smart as a boy it speaks volumes for Mr. Lee that though the only gentleman in the class he should take the valedictory, or rather deliver it to his sweet classmates.

Prof. J. F. O. Smith presided at the piano and the exercises were opened by the "Grand March Heroique," In D. No. 3. Franz Schubert.

Mr. Littlefield bespoke for the class the utmost attention and silence and then introduced Miss Minnie V. Snow, who delivered in a clear and distinct manner the Latin Salutatory. It was undoubtedly well written but our reporter could only catch the words "accipite" and "amore" which he is most willing to do.

Miss Annie A. Bennett then read an essay on Originality, which was full of its subject. Miss Bennett thought that if originality be taken in its strictest sense there can be now nothing original. Almost every literary work shows its connection with some older work. But there may be much originality if the word be taken more liberally.

Miss Alzaida R. Hammond read an entertaining essay on Railway manners,—a most prolific subject.—The excentricities of Mr. and Mrs. Shoddy who take everything they can reach and disregard every one else were graphically portrayed. Miss Hammond did not speak loud enough to drown the rustle of the fans.

The school then sang, "In Light Tripping Measures," From Cinderella.

Miss Belle V. V. Coggeshall read a very admirable essay on "Nihil de mortuis nisi bonum." The essay was not only good, but was excellently read. Miss Coggeshall has a good voice, and reads very correctly. She justly criticizes the fulsome eulogy of the dead which seems to be fashionable with us, especially when it is bestowed on people who were badly enough treated while alive. The outrageous calumnies and unbounded flattery poured on the late Horace Greeley, before and after his death were well referred to.

She thought it better to say nothing of those of whom no good could be said rather than to flatter.

Miss Fannie W. Aylsworth read an essay on man's Conflict with Nature." This conflict is a profoundly serious one, but it yields permanent and invaluable results. She spoke highly of the courage and energy of men who had devoted their lives to wresting from nature her secrets that they might make them useful to man kind. No one generation accomplishes the whole conflict, but what it gains it gives it its successors, and so from century to century man gains on nature. She prophesied the success of ballooning.

The school then sang "How Bright and Fair." From William Tell.

"Silence" was the title of the essay read by Miss Belle G. Chase, who extolled the great power in the worlds of nature, learning and art of silent thought and silent working. The silence of nature is often her most impressive influence. The most impresive of the exercises on Decoration Day is the silence. The powerful influence of Quaker meetings was referred to. She believed silence was better than an easy flow of language.

"The Pen, the Brush and the Chisel" was the subject of the essay by Miss Alice E. Thompson. The productions of the pen are more numerous than those of the brush and chisel. Poetry has been considered the chief fine art. Painting has not taken so high a place yet. It does not make the impression that poetry does, but it has many advantages over it.

The painter has more labor and less pleasure than the poet. The sculptor is the most imitative of artists but his is the most limited field, owing to his material and its color. Miss Thompson was of the opinion that it would yet be possible to color statuary satisfactorily, though that time may be far hence.

Miss Sophie Rice took for a subject, Undeveloped Resources. The essay indicated ability and care, but Miss Rice had a very light voice, and could not be heard at any distance.

Miss Hattie A Saunders read an essay on the Talker and the Listener. Miss Saunders gave a very amusing description of the imperative, the heavy and other kinds of talkers.

A good talker must have a very extensive and thorough knowledge of books and affairs, and also self command and self possession. But the best of talkers is useless with out a good attentive listener. The latter should not be easily diverted, and his face should show an appreciation of remarks of the speaker. Intelligence and good breeding and self command are requisites of the listener. The good talker ought to be a good listener. [Such is not the case. REP.]

Educated women are better talkers than educated men. [That is commonly supposed to apply also to the uneducated. REP.]

The school then sang "Night's shade no Longer," From Moses in Egypt.

Misses Alice E. Thompson, Belle Coggeshall, Alzaida Hammond, Hattie A. Saunders and Mr. Christopher M. Lee, then favored the audience with a French dialogue, Les Femmes Savantes, by Moliere. It was of thrilling interest but the learned ladies did not speak so that our reporter could understand them. But he thinks French dialogues are very useful. They give him a little time for writing up notes. Mr. Christopher M. Lee then delivered a fine and scholarly oration and valedictory, on the subject of "One Step More," he introduced examples from the lives of Cæsar, Arnold and Washington where one made, or would have made, an immense difference in all the individual's after life. He spoke of the different prospects opening out before a young man at the close of his school career. The slightest difference one way or another, one step more, makes a world of difference. Every man is great in proportion to the amount of truth that has taken possession of his soul. If a man is true to himself God will help him.

Mr. Lee then proceeded to tender the thanks of the class to the City Government and School Committee, and the Superintendent of schools; and the teachers. Then with a feeling of pain that even a newspaper reporter could appreciate, Mr. Lee bade a tender farewell to his lovely classmates. He hoped they would not end their education here, but with elastic tread (rubber shoes?) enter farther into the literary world.

The school then sang "Come with the Gipsey Bride." From the Bohemian Girl.

The class then formed a circle and Mr. Clarke addressed them. He congratulated them on their success, and gave them some sound advice for the future. Elevating and formative influences had been about them during their school life. All have influence. None live or die to themselves only. Every one should be careful about his or her influence. It was the duty of those he addressed to help others, rather than to profit by their misfortunes. They should go through the world winning golden opinions and tokens of all.

Each one is responsible for his or her own future. No diploma will assure success. He urged them all to emulate the example of him who went about doing good. He then presented the diplomas.

Mr. Coggeshall, as chairman of the School Committee then presented the medals.

He said the Board had been delighted with the essays, which had been read. He knew the scholars he addressed. He had always known them, and known well of them. He then presented to Mr. Lee the Oliver Reed medal for tried and approved morals.

He presented to Miss Saunders and Miss Coggeshall, the Norman prizes for the first and second positions in the class in scholarship.

Miss Sara Crandall of the second class, and Miss Abbie Swan of the third class received the King prizes for amiability.

Mr. Coggeshall then addressed the audience in regard to the old high school building which has just completed its 21st. year and its existence. He then spoke of Newport's relation to the Navy, suggested by the presence in the Harbor of the Constellation. Admiral Hopkins went from here. Oliver Hazard Perry took 200 men from here. Farragut took lessons on Long Wharf. And the founder of the Rogers High School was one of this city's contributions to the Navy. He closed with a very complimentary allusion to the teachers.

The school then united in singing a parting hymn written for the occasion. The music by Prof. J. F. O. Smith.

The days are gone, the blithesome days
On rapid wing have sped;
Before us lie diverging ways,
And farewell must be said.

Farewell the cheering word and smile,
Farewell the helping hand;
Time separates us for a while,
Hope reunites our band.

Till then, welcome the joys of Life,
Welcome its toil and pain;
The past shall cheer us mid the strife,
Like music's sweetest strain.

May He who rules the rolling years
Dispel all clouds of grief,
Impart His love, remove our fears,
And of each life be chief.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. S. C. Hill.

The Vital Drain.

It is necessary to the health of the body that its exhausted and refused particles should be carried off by the excretory organs, and it is equally necessary that the waste matter thus expelled should be replaced by new elements derived from digested and assimilated food. It is evident, therefore, that good digestion and perfect assimilation are essential to bodily vigor; and it is because Hostetter's Stomach Bitters powerfully assist these processes, that it is regarded by the intelligent classes, who contemplate are founded on observation, as the only absolute specific for dyspepsia and its attendant ills, at present known. When the system, either from constitutional causes, overwork, excess, anxiety, or actual disease, is in an unnaturally relaxed condition, something more than its exhausted particles passes through the pores. Vitality leaks through these outlets. Elements which should remain in the blood and enrich it are extracted, and that [illegible] the solids of the body as fast as they decay. The consequences are emaciation, debility, nervousness, loss of spirits, and a general, or perhaps a rapid decline of all powers of life. It is in cases like this that the restorative properties of Hostetter's Bitters are most conspicuous. The first two or three doses sometimes produce a change in the feelings and aspect of the invalid that is perfectly astonishing, and by a persevering use of this superlative vegetable tonic and alterative, the vital drain is sure to be arrested, the strength reinstated, the flesh restored, the constitution reinforced, and the brain relieved of the cloud that obscured it.

Drink to me only with thine eyes, or Williams' Extract Jamaica Ginger.

If a man wants a bottle of whisky, let him buy it and take it bona fide as such, and not sneak it in the guise of so-called "Bitters," or any other, and pretend that it is medicine. If he wants a tonic that is something better than a temporary stimulant, he should get a bottle of Peruvian Syrup (an Iron Tonic,) that will vitalize the blood and give durable strength to the system.

Colgate's Perfumes. To those who are fond of perfumes (and who is not?), we warmly recommend the above delightful extracts, as they are, without doubt, the finest that have yet been manufactured in America.

For Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms, Ferro Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic. As a stimulant tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness it has no equal. If taken during the season it prevents fever and ague and other intermittent fevers. jy5-1w

PIMPLES AND HUMORS ON THE FACE.—In this condition of the skin, the VEGETINE is the great remedy, as it acts directly upon the cause. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors of all kinds to disappear.

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1873.

GENERAL NEWS.

From New York.
The Police Pull Down the Washington Market.

NEW YORK, July 23.—At 8 o'clock this evening, two hundred and fifty policemen under command of Inspector Walling, assembled at the Chambers street station and proceeded thence to Washington Market, where the inspector posted them around the structure. They were soon after joined by Prof. Chandler and Dr. Smith, of the Health Board, the Sanitary Superintendent, a number of health inspectors, and about one hundred and fifty carpenters in charge of a foreman. The work of pulling down the booths and sheds erected beyond the line of the sidewalks was at once begun, and carried out to the very letter. All the sheds as far as Greenwich street were leveled to the ground. The butchers and other occupants of the booths and sheds showed no assistance to the officers of the law, but contented themselves with threats of suits for damages. West, Vesey and Fulton streets, present the appearance of a village blown down by a hurricane. The place will be disinfected in the morning.

A suit has been brought against Lizzie King, alias Kate Stoddard, the object of which is to foreclose a mortgage on one of Goodrich's house in Degraw street, Brooklyn. King alias Stoddard, is made a party to cover any rights she may have in the premises, as the widow of Charles Goodrich. When the papers were read, and it was explained to the prisoner that the object was to cut off her claim to the property, she said she had no desire to get a dollar out of Goodrich's estate, nor does she propose to claim anything, but that she does wish to get certain trinkets which the deceased presented her with, and which she says are now in his father's possession.

Gov. Dix has vetoed the newspaper claims bill, and the bill removing Sing Sing prison. He is at his summer mansion, West Hampton, Long Island.

By Cable.

MADRID, July 23.—A meeting which was attended by all the members of the cabinet and a large number of the majority of the Cortes was held last evening at the war office to discuss what measures should be adopted to secure the overthrow of the insurrectionary movements in the country and the restoration of order.

The Cortes has approved the bills providing for the imposition of extraordinary war taxes. Persons known to be in sympathy with the Carlists are to be taxed heavier than the loyal population.

The minority of the Cortes have issued a manifesto condemning the policy of the government.

Miscellaneous.

TRIAL OF THE PADRONE GLIONE IN NEW HAVEN.

NEW HAVEN.—July 23.—At the trial of Glione, the Italian padrone before the City Court, today, several Italians from New York and other places, were present. The four boys testified that they had been in this country for twenty-one months and had been kept in the Crosby street den until they were brought to New Haven, seven weeks ago; that they were beaten and kicked unless they brought in a prescribed sum every night, and were told by Glione to steal if they could not earn the money; that they were also told by Glione that their parents would be fined, and they would be arrested by the police if they ran away, and that he had a legal right to hold them. They all said they would be glad to be free, if the laws will give them freedom and they can be protected from Glione. The contracts under which the padrone claims a right to hold the boys were laid in, translated, and it appears that the boys' services had been sold to him by the parents for four or five years, at an average rate of about $20 per year, and with a provision that the parents should pay for medical services and should forfeit the wages and a fine of $30 if the boys should run away during the term of service. The recent Italian laws upon this subject were also laid in. Signor Secchi de Casali, editor of the Eco d'Italia, was one of the witnesses for the State. The statute under which Glione has been indicted, was passed in 1851, for the purpose of nullifying the fugitive slave law, but was never used for that purpose. The penalty is State prison for from two to five years. The Court held that Glione is guilty of imprisoning free persons, with the intent to keep them in a state of servitude against their will, and required the prisoner to furnish the total bonds of $1,000 for his appearance before a jury in October. Failing to furnish bonds, Glione was committed to the county jail. The boys will be taken care of by the city authorities until October.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 23.—Isabella McBride, aged 70, living with her husband on a farm about seven miles from this city, was brutally murdered last night by being shot through the head. Her husband, John McBride, was knocked down with a club and received severe cuts in the head, and when found this afternoon was lying on the floor weltering in blood, but living. The old people lived all alone and were supposed to have a large sum of money. Three thousand dollars were found in the house. There is no clue to the murderers.

BARCELONA, July 23. The remains of General Cabrinetz, who was killed in an engagement near Ripoll, between the Republicans and the Carlists, will be brought to this city.

Fearing disturbances in consequence of the issue of the Proclamation of Independence, many of the respectable inhabitants are leaving the city.

A colonel of the civil guards here has deserted and joined the Carlists.

BAYONNE, July 23. The Carlists claim that their effective force in Spain now numbers 30,000 men. They have disembarked a large quantity of arms and ammunition from England at Requisito.

As the insurgent iron clad Vittoria was sailing from Alicante, a German frigate, which was lying in the harbor, got up steam and followed her out by orders received from the German Legation at Madrid.

EVACUATION OF FRENCH TERRITORY BY THE GERMAN TROOPS.

PARIS, July 23.—It is officially announced today, that the fortified town of Mesieres, the capital of the department of Ardennes, and the town of Charleville, on the opposite bank of the Meuse, were evacuated, last night, by German forces, which have occupied them since the conclusion of war. The staff of General Manteuffel will remain at Nancy for a short time. After its departure from that city the Verdun district will be the only French territory occupied by German troops.

MADRID, JULY 23. President Salmeron held a council of generals today. He was advised to summon immediately into active service 90,000 men of the reserves.

The civil governors of Seville and Allacete have been dismissed and replaced by special delegates. Gen. Martinez has superseded Gen. Valevole as Captain General of Valencia. The inhabitants of Utrera have defeated and taken two guns from an insurgent column which marched out of Seville, to carry into effect the declaration of independence.

NORWICH, Ct., July 23. The fleet of the Brooklyn Yacht Club, which started on its annual cruise Monday, and stopped at New Haven that night, came to New London on Tuesday. Today its first regatta of the season took place off New London harbor, fourteen sloops participating. The prizes were offered by Mr. Dillon, of the club. The course was from the anchorage in the harbor to and around North Hammock Island, thence to the light ship and to Commodore Voohis's yacht, Tidal Wave, at the place of starting, and over the same course a second time, in all twenty eight miles. A flying start was effected a few minutes before noon. The wind was light, from the south west. The sloop Commodore was the first to pass the North Hammock, the Kate next and Tom Thumb's Maggie B. third. The Kate did not however, compete for the prize. These three, in this order, led the rest of the fleet over the course the first and second times around, the breeze freshening considerably the second round. The time allowance will probably not prevent the Commodore taking the first prize and the Maggie B. the second. The race occupied four hours and a half. Tomorrow the fleet sails for Stonington.

A Drawing by Miss McDonald.

Miss Margaret J. McDonald, a young lady of whose talent we have often had occasion to express our appreciation in the Tribune, has placed in Schaus's gallery a small water-color drawing, the first, we believe, in which she has attempted the figure. Up to the present all her time that has not been taken up with the laborious duty of teaching others—and few human employments are so exhausting and absorbing as teaching when it is with conscience—has been occupied with study, the constant aim of which has been the attainment of accuracy in the representation of whatever objects would remain quiet long enough to be drawn or painted. The result has been that Miss McDonald has become one of the most accurate draughtsmen in America, but we are not sure that her excellence as an artist has not been hindered by a too limited range of study and a too constant adherence to still-life subjects. For we are very sure, from a few drawings of animals that this lady has made, and from the present drawing in Mr. Schaus's gallery, that she might have distinguished herself in higher walks, and that she may still distinguish herself. In the little drawing under consideration Miss McDonald has avoided the direct dealing with the human face, but her treatment of the figure is remarkable for the way in which it renders the intentness of the subject a young girl seated at an easel, making a drawing from a flower. She is not playing at work—she is working, and her body is as absorbed as her mind. Miss McDonald's color is somewhat crude, and we think the large masses of crimson and green in the curtain and lounge might have been broken up to advantage—without losing the effect sought in massing them; but it is so rare to see in women's work—or in men's either, for that matter—any love for breadth and simplicity, that we rather praise Miss McDonald's drawing for the possession of these qualities than criticise the method by which she has sought them. In this unpretending little work there is good, solid execution, and careful, intelligent drawing. There is air, and there is light—one feels instinctively, in looking at it, that the artist was in earnest, and earnestness alone consecrates, makes intrinsically valuable all human labor. It is because it possesses these sterling merits that we have given so much space to what may seem to many an unimportant production.

Raising Roots for Cattle.

I think people do not pay attention enough to raising roots for cattle, and as I have had a little experience in that line, I will give it for the benefit of your readers.

In 1871 I purchased four ounces of mangel wurzel beet seed and sowed it on two square rods of ground, in drills two feet apart, and tended with a hoe; and in the Fall I harvested from said piece of ground, thirty bushels of beets, sixty pounds to the bushel. The same year I sowed about one-eighth of an acre of carrots, from which I obtained about forty-five bushels.

In 1872 I sowed three-eighths of an acre to mangel wurzel, in drills three feet apart, from which I obtained 191 bushels. I also sowed three-eighths of an acre of carrots, in drills two feet apart, and obtained 125 bushels. The carrots were more expensive in weeding and digging, and returning less food in proportion to the amount of land sown than the mangel wurzel, but of a little better quality. I think mangel wurzel the cheapest food for cattle that can be grown, if we take the amount of land used into consideration. —M. N. S., of Concord, Iowa, in Western Rural.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
